WEYLER'S HATRED OF FOREIGNERS

How a Boy Was Shot Down Because
He Was Ignorant of the Roadway—Sick Men and Women Count as Rebels to the "Butcher."

New York, November 25.—William Brown, a subject of Great Britain, recently released from a Cuban prison where he had spent a month for the alleged offense of abounding in the streets of Havana "Cuba Libre," and who was a week ago expelled by order of Captain General Weyler, arrived here yesterday on the Ward Line steamer City of Washington. Brown said he did not care to go into details regarding his treatment by the Spanish authorities, except to say that treatment by the Spanish authorities was brutal in the extreme and that if he had not had papers proving him to be a British subject he would yet be in a Spanish dungeon.

"Cuba in my mind is lost to Spain. The latter country is now on her beam end and the storm on the little island will soon engulf her," he said.

Mr. Brown declared that no political prisoner in Cuba knew what he was arrested for until as had been in a prison cell for some time. While declining to give details in his own case, he talked freely of Spanish cruelty in other instances. Some of his stories are almost incredible. He said:

"Let me tell you something of Weyler's system. Honur Lane was captured by General Maceo, of the Cuban army, about nine months ago. He was detained but a few days. After his liberation, Lane returned to his home in Havana. Later he was arrested at the instigation of a personal friend of General Weyler. Seven months after his arrest he was tried before a jury, composed of Weyler's own creatures, and declared innocent. Did that make any difference? Not a bit. He is still held a prisoner and his case has been referred to Madrid. General Weyler showed his displeasure of the court that declared Lane innocent by sending them into the field as a punishment. Mr. Lane is a Frenchman and is trying to get his case to the attention of the French government."

"Weyler had many foreigners arrested. He detests them. Most of these have never seen the light of day, because of the Spanish system of placing them so that their respective governments never learn of their subject's misery."

"Finally they drop out of sight; it saves the cost and trouble of the trial. The poor Cuban gets a short shift. It is sufficient to say that he is a sympathizer in the cause. That is his death warrant. If the unfortunate has friends, his trial is a farce. His conviction is an absolute certainty and by the first steamer he is sent to Chafarina, or some other penal colony."

Horrific Treatment of a Boy.

"Here is a story related by a prisoner now confined in the prison in which I was. Colonel Molina, one of his recent raiders while endeavoring to locate an insurgent hospital met a fourteen-year-old boy, Carlos Hernandez. He demanded from the youth the location of the hospital. The boy did not know.

"Colonel Molina struck him on the head with his revolver, causing the blood to flow. A repetition of the question eliciting the same result, resulted in the boy's eyes being forced from his socket by a blow from the Spanish officer's pistol."

"Not satisfied with this, he struck the boy again, killing him and undoubtably reported a gallant victory to Weyler. Oh, but the war records of Spain are well filled fast by such 'victories' in the field."

"This same butch Molina murdered a whole family the same day. Gonzales by name, for refusing to inform him of the direction taken by the insurgents. These acts of murder and cruelty are in marked contrast to the Christian spirit shown and practiced by General Calixto Garcia, the insurgent chief, who sent the wounded Spanish prisoners captured from Guimenes to Puerto Principe."

Murdered the Sick.

"La Lucha, in its edition of November 21st, informs the people of Cuba that Colonel Rondeau surprised and destroyed a rebel hospital at Campo Florida. There were eight beds, undoubtably occupied as a time, and as there was no mention of prisoners, it is understood that the sick were murdered. Reliable information from a party just returned from the Pinar del Rio district was a few days ago received in Havana. It states that the reign of death and pillage was well under way there, men, women and children being outraged and shot down in their homes or wherever found."

"Most of them were pacifico, their only offense being that they did not quickly enough bend to Weyler's soldiers, by removing into the towns where they were almost sure to starve to death, as Spain's captain general was known to have no facilities for feeding and housing them."

This has all occurred since Weyler took the field. It looks as if he wished to have bountiful revenge for having been driven from comfortable quarters in Havana.

"Does the liberty loving American bear in mind that these terrible acts of rape and murder are daily occurring less than one hundred miles from the coast of the greatest republic on earth, and yet these same Spaniards have the audacity to send agents abroad to collect money to succor their own wounded. America and Europe have striven to help the faraway Americans. Charity begins at home."

"Let that government apply some of its doctrines in recognition of the Cuban heroes and suppress these innumerable acts of inhumanity."

Mr. Brown would not say where he would stay while in this city. He is said to be saving the details of his personal experiences for publication in Europe. He is thirty years of age, of average height and build, and wears a heavy dark mustache. A perfect knowledge of Spanish has helped him to fuller insight of the Cuban question than it is possible for most aliens in Cuba to obtain.

Election of Directors Said to be Illegal

Baltimore, November 25.—The sugar trust has encountered an unexpected obstacle in its control of the Baltimore Sugar Refining Company. Lawyers who have been studying the situation claim that the recent election of directors, which resulted in the defeat of the old board, composed of Baltimoreans, and the substitution of a board in sympathy with the trust was illegal.

The old management was unanimously in favor starting the plant at Curtis Bay which is the best plant of its size in the United States, as soon as possible and had made arrangements to begin the manufacture of sugar by the middle of December, providing work for 600 men.

The Sugar trust wanted the plant to remain idle, and at the annual meeting about two weeks ago showed that it owned a majority of the stock of the Baltimore company, and, therefore, elected successors to the Baltimore directors. C. Morton Stewart was the only resident of Maryland

Richmond, Va., November 25.—The state board of election canvassers met again today and made a recount which will probably give to Charles M. Wallace, Jr., democrat, the certificate of elector for this district. The count yesterday, it was thought, would exclude Mr. Wallace and give McKinley one elector. The board then adjourned over until Friday.

M. H. D. Flood, democrat, to whom the union will appoint, if he has not already done so, similar delegates and representatives from every tobacco-growing state in the union will be present.

Mr. Williams is daily in receipt of letters from tobacco men from all parts of the country who will attend whether they are delegates or not. The convention is being thoroughly advertised in all the tobacco journals and is arousing a far greater interest than any previous convention by the most singular. It now looks as if there would be at least five hundred delegates and visitors present from outside the state. In addition to this, every county in Florida will send delegates.

The Ocala board of trade is making preparations to meet. One result of the convention will be to place prominently before the governors of the country the adaptability of Florida for tobacco of all kinds.

WHY WEYLER RETURNED TO HAVANA

He Tried To Find the Wily Insurgent
Chief, but Maceo Was Too
Shrewd and Kept Out of

Be Executed.

New York, November 25.—The Ward line steamship City of Washington, which arrived today from Havana, brought some interesting news of the engagement which occurred recently near Mount Rubia between the Spanish troops and the insurgent forces, headed by General Maceo.

Last Saturday the government organ, La Lucha, called for trains to convey 1,000 wounded and sick soldiers from Candelaria to Havana. This was the first intimation that had been received that the engagement had been serious in its results.

One of the passengers on the City of Washington, who, for obvious reasons, did not wish to have his name mentioned, gave an interesting account of how the battle was fought, and this to a great extent, it is thought, explains why General Weyler returned to Havana so soon.

Mount Rubia is twenty-six miles west of Havana and about twelve miles from the northern coast of the island. General Weyler had spread his troops across the island in its narrowest part to prevent Maceo's forces moving toward the east.

Then the remaining forces were divided into three detachments, one of 6,000 men, another of 10,000 and the third of 20,000, the latter being led by General Weyler himself. These detachments moved toward the mountains from different directions.

The detachment of 5,000 reached the mountain first, and after heavy fighting there they found that the enemy had disappeared.

Passengers remember hearing a sudden slackening up of the train, and they noticed the application of the air-brakes. In another moment came an awful crash. The first four cars were telescoped and crashed down a fifteen-foot embankment at the right. The first car was a mail car, containing clerks who were unhurt. The baggage master was badly hurt in the wreck, but it is thought he will recover. Trains were stalled for hours. Wrecking crews were soon on the scene, and after four hours' work, succeeded in partially raising the blockade by opening one track.

THREE GENERATIONS RAN AWAY

Shelton Thought He Owed It to His Family Pride To Escape and Did the Lochinvar Act.

A story of a very romantic wedding, which has for its principal characters an irate father and two sons, but determined to be more active than ever, as the crowds will throng the streets, Thanksgiving Day will be busy for this class of men, and they will be tired and weary when their hour of relief arrives tonight.

The firemen may have a busy day, and while they eat their turkey, they will listen for the big gong to call them to their wagons for a run to a fire. Holidays are always welcome with anxiety by Cap Joyner and his men, and they will be especially careful today in guarding property from fire.

The motormen and conductors will hardly know it is Thanksgiving, as they will be busy calling for the crowds who will go to the various places of amusement.

To the railroad men the arrival of the national holiday means only increased work, as the number of trains on account of the special rate will probably be increased and travel will be heavier than usual in the morning and at night.

Turkey for the Prisoners.

Thanksgiving Day was announced yesterday at the Fullerton, and will be the arrival of a wagon load of turkeys which were sent down to the prisoners with the compliments of Sheriff Barnes.

"While everybody else is eating turkey and cranberries tomorrow," said Sheriff Barnes yesterday, "the prisoners will be enjoying turkey, as we have down a wagon load of turkeys this afternoon and they will be cooked in the very best manner, and will be given the prisoners for their Thanksgiving dinner."

Superintendent Donaldson, of the county correction camp, will remember his men and will wait the prison fare by having turkeys for the occasion.

There will be a turkey dinner at the county almshouse. The turkeys were raised on the place and have been made fat for the occasion.

To the rich and the poor, the fortunate and the unfortunate, this Thanksgiving Day will bring many pleasures and much joy.

At several of the missions of the city a special dinner will be prepared and served to the poor and needy, and articles of food and clothing will be distributed by the Christian workers.

Harvest Home Festival.

At the many interesting services which have been arranged for today is the Harvest Home Festival to be given this evening at 7:30 o'clock at the Chapel of Good Shepard, on Plum street.

The committee in charge of the entertainment is bending its efforts toward making the occasion happy and bright for the children. No admission fee will be charged and the public generally is invited to attend.

The services will be conducted by Rev. J. N. McCormick, rector of St. Luke's church, assisted by Rev. Allard Barnwell and others. An interesting programme of music has been prepared by Mr. J. Morton Boyce of St. Luke's church, who will conduct the musical feature of the service.

Thanksgiving in the Churches.

Special services have been announced at the Central Congregational church this morning at 11 o'clock. The services will be conducted by Rev. R. V. Atkinson, with special music by the choir.

Services at West End.

This morning at 11 o'clock Thanksgiving services will be held at the church of the Central Congregational, and will be conducted by the pastor.

The church has been beautifully and artistically decorated and presents a very pretty appearance. The services this morning will be unusually interesting.

Through the efforts of Dr. Hobart and others, a large amount of vegetables and other staples has been obtained and after the services this morning these will be distributed among the poor people of the seventh ward. Enough has been obtained for a large number of people and the poor ones who are unable to buy a Thanksgiving dinner will not be compelled to go hungry on this glorious day.

NOT KNOWN WHO FIRED SHOT.

Negro's Leg Broken While Resisting Arrest.

Gadsden, Ala., November 25.—(Special)—At 7 o'clock tonight, negro named Hickman was shot in the right leg and the limb severed by an unknown party while an attempt was being made to arrest him by officers. Hickman was wanted on a case of assault.

About eight months ago he went into the mines of the Royal Coal and Coke Company, and is the result of a dispute over the same. The company has a large amount of vegetables and other staples has been obtained and after the services this morning these will be distributed among the poor people of the seventh ward. Enough has been obtained for a large number of people and the poor ones who are unable to buy a Thanksgiving dinner will not be compelled to go hungry on this glorious day.

TRouble AGAIN AT COAL CREEK.

Miners of Royal Coal and Coke Company on Strike.

Knoxville, Tenn., November 25.—(Special)—The miners of Coal Creek are again causing trouble.

The trouble started last week in the mines of the Royal Coal and Coke Company and is the result of a dispute over the same. The company has a large amount of vegetables and other staples has been obtained and after the services this morning these will be distributed among the poor people of the seventh ward. Enough has been obtained for a large number of people and the poor ones who are unable to buy a Thanksgiving dinner will not be compelled to go hungry on this glorious day.

PAID HIS DEBTS WITH STAMPS.

Postmaster at Louisa, Ala., Indicted for Improperly Using Stamps.

Opelika, Ala., November 25.—(Special)—The United States grand jury at Montgomery found a true bill against Tyler Phillips postmaster at Louisa, Ala., today. Phillips was charged with improperly using the stamp of the government, and his case was a very unique one.

He ran a little store in connection with the postoffice, and was paying his bills with stamps. All went well until he had a flourishing business until a few days before his trial he became involved in a lawsuit and judgment for a small amount was given against him. When the bailiff went with his execution to levy, Phillips paid the judgment and came to the postoffice to pay his debts.

The trial was held at the postoffice, and Postoffice Inspector J. R. Hosson took him in charge and easily succeeded in getting a true bill.

SH. REFUSED TO RETURN HOME.

Mrs. Tinneman Leaves Her Husband—What Her Letters Revealed.

Knoxville, Tenn., November 25.—(Special)—Mrs. Cora Tinneman disappeared from her home in this city this morning and her husband found her on the Western railway train with a ticket to Barkwood, S. C.

She refused to return home with him.

Later the husband found among her effects letters revealing a clandestine correspondence with Ed Sciss, a young man who left Selma several weeks ago. He also discovered that Sciss is wearing her wedding ring, and that he furnished her the ticket to Barkwood.

The husband is heartbroken. They were married in this city a year ago. A baby was born to them, but died three weeks ago. Tinneman will make no attempt to recover his truant wife, but threatens to kill Sciss.

Tragedy at a Cake Walk.

Selma, Ala., November 25.—(Special)—A fatal duel was fought between Alf and Bob Holly, brothers, and Henry, alias Devil Hays, and Jack, alias Happy Hays, two negro brothers, who were about 12 years old. They were walking in this city at midnight last night, when Alf was worsted. He left the dance and returned with his brother and the ruse was renewed. Bob Holly and his brother were shot in the leg. Alf ran and was found in an alley six hours later, when he had fallen exhausted. He was mortally wounded, but still alive.

The Hayes boys fled and have not been captured. About 100 persons were fired in at Nathan Davis was arrested as he left the hall with an empty pistol in his hand, and was now in jail.

He claims to have picked up the pistol from the floor.

Are They Asleep?

Are the trustees of the State University asleep; or are they paying proper attention to the very important detail of having none but the right kind of material in charge of every department of that famous old institution?

The Harmony Grove Echo is the name of a weekly publication—by courtesy called a newspaper—whose residence is Harmony Grove, Ga. It has at the top of its editorial columns the name of Dr. B. F. Riley, "Professor of English, University of Georgia," and as this name heads the two whose names are linked, it is to be presumed that Dr. Riley is responsible for the editorial on the senatorial contest, in which Georgia's new senator is referred to as follows:

It is now Senator Alexander Stephens Clay. Verily, this is a day of small men. Whatever may be said in Senator Clay's favor (and there are many things which might and should be said), in the estimation of The Echo he is the smallest of all the men of the time that ever represented the South in the upper house of congress. This is not only untrue, doing injustice to the distinguished young Georgian who has been elected to the senate, but even if there were foundation for it, it would be none of Professor Riley's business, especially while the University is seeking help from the very legislature which elected Mr. Clay.

The trustees should call off some of the mouthy professors—they are talking and writing altogether too much. They are injuring the university.

The Prophets of the East.

The Constitution is of the opinion that the leading gold standard oracles and organs are entirely mistaken as to the kind and character of the prosperity that the people expect and desire. The announcements that these oracles and organs have made and are making are not at all satisfactory. According to these prophets, we are already in the midst of a most tremendous business and industrial boom, and as a proof of it, they print long lists of factories and shops that have opened up since McKinley's election.

Now this is a matter that will not bear exaggeration. The sensational twists that our metropolitan contemporaries give to petty crimes and misdemeanors in New York city cannot be effectively applied to the conditions that make for prosperity. We observe that Editor Pulitzer's newspaper has tripped and thrown itself down in the matter of boozing things. It has printed a long list of concerns that have "resumed" since the 3d of November. The majority of these concerns, as The Constitution has already pointed out, are those that shut down in order to induce their employees to vote for McKinley. A large number of the concerns, however, exist only on paper.

For instance, The News of Highland Falls, shows that of the three industries credited to that place by The World's special boomer, two have no existence and the third has not resumed business and probably never will. In short, The World's list has been so badly punctured and cut by the cold facts of the situation that the virtuous Philadelphia Record charges that the wicked silver men have willfully sent false reports to the gold standard oracles and organs in order to discredit them with the public.

Of course such a plea as this is worse than absurd—almost as bad, in fact, as the excuse given for the failure of twenty-two savings banks in New Hampshire. That excuse is to the effect that the money was placed in western land investments, and we have seen the hint in a New York oracle that the west had swindled the east by having land enough to offer a field for eastern investment.

As a matter of course, the wise bankers who have lost the money of their too credulous depositors can never be brought to see that in promoting currency contraction they were doing the only thing that could bring their western land investments to ruin. Nor is it necessary that they should be brought to see it. When people deliberately cut their own throats they are entitled neither to the prayers of the church nor the sympathy of the public.

Meanwhile, what the people want is not the sensational announcements that prosperity has arrived, but some substantial evidence that it is here. Hundreds of concerns all over the country are closing doors or cutting down prices, and the biggest railroads of the country are retrenching in every department. In some instances their machine shops are now in charge of apprentices, this remarkable change having been made since Mr. McKinley's election.

All this, as we have said before, is no evidence that Mr. McKinley and the republicans will not be able to restore prosperity by some one of the various methods which they have set forth from time to time during the campaign. Nor would we have it understood that our comments on the absurd exaggerations to be found in some of the newspapers are aimed at Mr. McKinley and the republicans. It will be some months yet before the party which the people have endorsed will be given an opportunity to arrange its programme, and even when that is done some time must elapse before the republican policy can have any effect on business.

The republican promises, however, are quite distinct from those made by the gold standard oracles and organs. These oracles and organs declared over and again that the election of Mr. McKinley would be an endorsement of the gold standard, and that this fact, of itself, would "restore confidence," and restore prosperity at once. We now invite them to show us some substantial evidence that they are not false prophets.

Mr. Knowles's Good Work.

No more creditable piece of work has been done by any member of the legislature than that done by Hon. Clarence Knowles in securing a favorable report on his bill calling for an appropriation of $25,000 for the Technological school.

The measure was given a careful hearing by the finance committee, which returned it to the house with a favorable recommendation by practically unanimous vote of its members.

Those who are not acquainted with the details of legislation, and who do not understand the difficulties in the way of securing a favorable report upon any measure containing an appropriation, will probably not be inclined to give Mr. Knowles the full credit, which belongs to him for his good work; but to those who have had insight into the workings of legislation, and who know the hard road any measure of this kind has to travel to secure a favorable report, the efforts of Mr. Knowles will be thoroughly appreciated, for they reflect much credit on his ability as a legislator.

We hope the general assembly will pass the bill. No institution in the state has accomplished better results in a practical way than the Technological school, and its management should receive the cordial support of the state in their effort to establish the school on a basis which, in the efficiency of its course, will make it second to no institution of its kind in the country.

President Harrison.

The Philadelphia Press is very much exercised over the future political estate of ex-President Harrison.

Under the fear that he might possibly fall heir to one of the cabinet plums which Mr. McKinley will distribute next March, The Press comes out in a lengthy editorial and endeavors to show that Mr. Harrison cannot, with justice to himself, accept a cabinet portfolio.

In the judgment of The Philadelphia Press it would never do for the ex-president to occupy a subordinate seat in the cabinet after having once filled the chair of his presiding officer.

In such a position he would be responsible to his superior officer and not to the people. On this account it would be in the nature of a compromise with his dignity as a former president of the United States to accept a position under the incoming administration. Of course this objection, from its very nature, applies with equally as much force to the Philippine Islands, but little is known at this juncture, as the revolution has been in active progress for only a few weeks.

Since the termination of hostilities between China and Japan the peace of Asia has remained unbroken, and the only theaters of actual warfare during the year have been in Africa and the Spanish colonies. In the southern part of the dark continent the raid upon the Dutch republic and the Matabele uprising were the principal events of the year.

The former conflict, if such it may be called, was the outgrowth of a feud between the German and English settlers of south Africa, while the latter was a rising up of native Africans against the white people.

Between Italy and Abyssinia a state of open warfare has existed during the greater part of the year. On terms humiliating to the pride of Italy a treaty of peace has been signed within the past few days which lowers the curtain upon that tragic drama and fastens the stigma of defeat upon Italy's ambitious policy. In all likelihood the bloodiest engagement of the year was the battle of Adowa, fought between the Italians and Abyssinians.

As to the British expedition into the Soudan nothing has been accomplished. Under the command of Sir Herbert Kitchener a splendid military force set out for the African interior during the early part of the present year.

The British commander has chiefly occupied his time in making a study of the country, and with the exception of Dongola, which readily yielded to the strength of his disciplined troops, but little blood has been shed on African soil as the result of this expedition.

There has been some talk of war between the United States and England, but the latter's recognition of the Monroe doctrine has effectively put a stop to that rumor. In Europe the mutterings of strife have likewise been heard, but up to the present time there is no immediate prospect of war.

Such is a bird's-eye view of the military operations of the year. In consideration of the progress which has been attained in the science of warfare it is a matter of congratulation that no greater disasters have occurred.

Weyler's Return.

It is natural that the Cuban patriots should feel and express elation over the sudden and mysterious return of the great Captain General Weyler from his headquarters in the field to his headquarters in Havana.

The departure of the great captain general from Havana to take command of the army in the field was trumpeted about by the Spaniards as an announcement that the insurrection would soon be crushed. It was declared by way of Madrid that the seat of war meant that a crisis had arrived in Cuban affairs, and Spain, roused at last, would show the world that she still retained her military vigor and spirit. General Weyler departed for the field with the understanding that he was either to rout and disperse the Cubans under Maceo, or prepare to return to Spain in disgrace.

Thus heralded and trumpeted General Weyler proceeded to Pinar del Rio, where Maceo lay, and began his campaign. For the first few days the most glowing accounts were sent out (by way of Madrid) of Weyler's progress. The rebels fled before him wherever he made his appearance, and all that was necessary for the complete success of the Spanish cause was for some one to catch Maceo and hold him until the great captain general could get at him.

General Weyler had other views. He withdrew his forces into the mountain regions of Pinar del Rio and there awaited the advance of the Spaniards. But Weyler did not care to follow. He learned that the American sharpshooters attached to the Cuban army were on the lookout for his wavy plume, making an industrious effort to win the $5,000 reward that had been offered as a competition prize to the man who succeeded in picking the captain general off his horse.

The sudden return of General Weyler to Havana, is, therefore, in the nature of an announcement that his campaign is a most disastrous failure. Coupling this disaster to the Spanish arms, for it is nothing less, with the announcement that Gomez, the grim old Cuban warrior whose whereabouts have not been known for some time, is about to enter the province of Havana with an army of 35,000 men, it may be confidently stated that nothing at the present moment stands in the way of Cuban liberty but a declaration by the United States in behalf of Cuban independence.

Why should this not be done? The republicans will not be able to restore prosperity by some one of the various methods which they have set forth from time to time during the campaign. Nor would we have it understood that our comments on the absurd exaggerations to be found in some of the newspapers are aimed at Mr. McKinley and the republicans. His Idea of Higher Courts.

"That's a fightin' couple come before me to be divorced," said the rural justice to his local advising lawyer. "What's the law on that p'mer?"

"Send 'em to a higher court," said the lawyer.

"A higher court than this here?"

"Of course!"

The justice was silent a few moments; apparently he was in deep thought. Then he called the bailiff and gave his commands:

"Take the man out and string him up," he said, "but spare the woman!"

DuMaurier left a bank account of $250,000, the result of "Trilby." Altogether, this makes a very comfortable literary legacy. "Trilby" foots up well.

Some Side Lights ON GEORGIA LEGISLATION.

It is very largely due to the individual effort of one of Fulton county's representatives that the finance committee of the house voted favorably upon a bill to make an appropriation of $25,000 to the State Technological school. That member is Mr. Clarence Knowles, who introduced the bill providing for the appropriation and who has been indefatigable in his efforts in behalf of the measure.

After he had introduced the bill and had talked with some of the members of the committee Mr. Knowles found that there were doubtless Thoroughbreds on the committee—men who, being unfamiliar with the institution and its work, were chary about making the appropriation. Being a practical man, the gentleman from Fulton went about his task of winning them over in the most practical way. He took a large number of them out to the school, showed them the work KNOWLES.

Although provincial in its origin, the custom is today broadly national in its observance. It has passed out from its original environment and is now planted as securely among the distant Rockies as in the granite hills of New England. Speaker Jenkins Offers Bill Creating Office of Commissioner of Patents—Other House Bills.

The schoolbook commission bill was introduced in the house of representatives yesterday on the question of adjournment until tomorrow on account of Thanksgiving Day. It was finally decided to observe the holiday and there will be no session of the house to-day.

The debate came up on a motion made by Mr. Fletcher Johnson of Hall county. After the house had cleared the clerk's desk of business and members had introduced the usual daily run of bills, Mr. Johnson said that there was no quorum present and should not be today because members of committees were out of the city, and he moved that the house adjourn until Friday morning.

Mr. Fogarty, of Richmond county, opposed the motion to adjourn over and he was supported by Mr. Branch of Columbia, the popular leader of the house. Mr. Fogarty declared that the house ought to remain in session and transact the public business, which was accumulating and he said in view of the fact that little had been done so far and that the session was already half over he thought no further time should be lost.

Be it enacted by the general assembly of the state of Georgia that the state school commission, consisting of the governor, secretary of state, comptroller general, attorney general and state school commissioner and five other citizens of the state, to-wit: the chancellor of the State university, one representative of a local school, one representative of the common school system, the four last named to be appointed by the governor within thirty days after the passage of this act for the term of five years, shall be the Georgia book commission.

The bill is one of the several important educational bills now before the general assembly and it will become a question of state interest. It empowers the commission to take such steps as will secure the object sought by the bill—cheaper books and an interesting measure. The bill is entitled:

"By Mr. West of Lowndes—A bill to amend and alter the school laws of this state by establishing and maintaining uniform courses of textbooks to be used in all common schools of this state; to organize a book commission to carry into effect the provisions of this act and for other purposes."

Be it enacted by the general assembly of the state of Georgia that the state school commission, consisting of the governor, secretary of state, comptroller general, attorney general and state school commissioner and five other citizens of the state, to-wit: the chancellor of the State university, one representative of a local school, one representative of the common school system, the four last named to be appointed by the governor within thirty days after the passage of this act for the term of five years, shall be the Georgia book commission."

The bill enacts that the commission shall not adopt any book which is sectional or sectarian and enacts that the books now used in any of the public schools receiving a part of the state school fund shall be discontinued in use after January 1, 1888.

It also prohibits the commission from changing the books in use in any of the public schools, which was introduced by the speaker of the house without a quorum. The popular and adjourned ought not to be taken and be opposed the motion of Mr. Johnson.

None of His Business.

Mr. Fogarty offered an amendment to Mr. Johnson's motion by substituting 10 o'clock this morning for 10 o'clock Friday morning and a preliminary scrap resulted.

The substance of the squabble is a point of order and Mr. Fogarty said he was not responsible for Mr. Johnson's density.

Mr. Branch saw an opportunity to make a point of order and moved that the house demur with delaying the public business and declaring that nothing could be done on account of the junketing trip of committees, referring to the committee on lunatic asylums and committee on penitentiaries, both of which left the city yesterday morning, leaving the house without a quorum. The popular and adjourned ought not to be taken and be opposed the motion of Mr. Johnson.

Pardon Commission Bill.

Speaker Jenkins introduced a bill in the house to create the office of commissioner of pardons. The bill provides for the appointment of the commissioners by the governor and a salary of $1,000 per annum.

It also prohibits the commission from changing the books in use in any of the public schools, which was introduced by the speaker of the house without a quorum. The popular and adjourned ought not to be taken and be opposed the motion of Mr. Johnson.

Mr. Fogarty offered an amendment to Mr. Johnson's motion by substituting 10 o'clock this morning for 10 o'clock Friday morning and a preliminary scrap resulted.

The substance of the squabble is a point of order and Mr. Fogarty said he was not responsible for Mr. Johnson's density.

Mr. Branch saw an opportunity to make a point of order and moved that the house demur with delaying the public business and declaring that nothing could be done on account of the junketing trip of committees, referring to the committee on lunatic asylums and committee on penitentiaries, both of which left the city yesterday morning, leaving the house without a quorum. The popular and adjourned ought not to be taken and be opposed the motion of Mr. Johnson.

THEY TOOK IN MACON

A Large Legislative Committee Spent Yesterday There.

EN ROUTE TO MILLEDGEVILLE

Where the Lunatic Asylum and Girls' Industrial School Will Be Inspected—Other Macon News.

Macon, Ga., November 25.—(Special)—The joint legislative committee from the senate and house, to investigate the state lunatic asylum and the Girls' Industrial school at Milledgeville, spent today in Macon.

The committee is composed of about fifty members from the two branches of the general assembly, with Mr. J. A. Stewart, chairman of the senate committee, and Dr. J. W. Taylor chairman of the house committee. Three ladies accompany the committee, their husbands being members. They are Mrs. Nevins, of Floyd; Mrs. Henderson, of DeKalb, and Mrs. Adams of Union.

Laws, the negro member from Liberty, is a member of the committee, and he is with the party.

The committee came in this morning in a private car furnished by President Comer, of the Central, and remained until 7:30 o'clock tonight, when they left in the same car for Milledgeville. While here the committee members spent their time in seeing the sights and visiting friends. Many of them are Masons and they put in most of their time at the office of the grand secretary, where everything possible to their comfort was done. The committee will remain at Milledgeville one day only and then return to Atlanta.

A Big Building.

Plans have been made for a magnificent six-story building at the corner of First and Cherry streets, adjoining the Park Hotel. The building is to be used strictly as an office building and will be of modern architecture and convenience. Mr. John G. Gads, formerly of Macon but now a resident of Atlanta, is to have the ownership of the building, and Architect Dennis of Atlanta, drew the plans. The cost of the building has not been learned, but it is understood that it will be a handsome sum, as the building is to be one of the handsomest office buildings in the state.

A Beautiful Home.

Mr. W. B. Sparks is preparing to build a beautiful home on the east side of the Ocmulgee river at Baconsfield, the new city of the state. The house will be laid off and will be built up as soon as the Spring street bridge is completed.

In addition to this magnificent and costly residence, Mr. Sparks will put up a windmill which will be a curiosity in itself. His grounds will also be laid off in the most attractive manner and altogether he will have one of the most magnificent homes in the state.

Other Buildings.

The Georgia Southern and Florida railroad has built a large new roundhouse and warehouse within the next day or two. These buildings will cover a large area of ground and will be a great improvement on the present old shanties.

The road has also had plans drawn for commodious new shop buildings that are to be erected right away, in accordance with the resolutions adopted at the recent annual meeting of the directors.

Work on the $1,000 church building for the congregation of Tattinall Square Baptist church will begin tomorrow and the Baptists of the city will unite in making the occasion a special Thanksgiving celebration. The church will be very attractive when finished.

A Little Misleading.

The headlines in the Constitution yesterday, concerning the receivership for the assets of Sperry & Strong, lessees of the Hotel Lanier, for the purpose of winding up the partnership, were a little misleading. It was stated that a receiver had been appointed for the company, but the article stated the company was in no way affected, the receiver being asked for by Mr. Sperry solely because he and Mr. Strong could not agree on terms of settlement.

Goods Attached.

W. H. Kennedy, a grocery merchant doing a large business on the Columbus road near Macon, had his goods attached today by Deputy Sheriff Herrington at the instance of the Cartersham Warehouse Company and Adams & Harper, who had claims against Kennedy to the amount of $400. Kennedy has been missing since Monday.

WATCHING SUSPICIOUS VESSELS

Revenue Cutter Colfax To Remain Off Brunswick For Some Time.

Brunswick, Ga., November 25.—(Special)—The revenue cutter Schuyler Colfax is yet here and will likely remain watching the movements of all vessels suspected of connection with filibustering. Two Spanish ships are now in the city, and it looks like it will be a busy winter outside the breakers. Something daring is looked for, however, but from what direction the move will come cannot be guessed.

FUNERAL OF OLD UNCLE SHEROD

Quittman's Wealthiest White Men Honored, I. With Their Presence.

Quittman, Ga., November 25.—(Special)—The funeral of Uncle Sherod Williams, one of the best negroes in the state, occurred here today.

He died yesterday morning as the result of a congestive chill, which he had Sunday. He was greatly respected here by the white people, and the funeral occurred from the white Methodist church, of which he had been a member since the days of slavery.

The pallbearers were the wealthiest and most influential white citizens of the town. They were: Mr. A. J. Rountree, Mr. J. B. Rountree, Captain J. G. McCall, Judge W. B. Benner, Mr. S. M. Griffin and Mr. L. S. Gandy. A large number of Quittman's white population attended the funeral.

He was at the time of his death in his seventy-fifth year and was a good and prosperous citizen.

WAS WON BY THE RAILROAD.

VERDICT IN AN INTERESTING CASE IN FLOYD COURT.

Coroner's Verdict in the Pope Murder Case—Two Men Held Suspected With the Murder.

Rome, Ga., November 25.—(Special)—The jury in the case of Hamilton against the Rome railroad, after being out all night and until 11 o'clock today, brought in a verdict in favor of the defendant. The case is still open.

Many years ago Colonel Alfred Shorter was a member of the Rome Railroad Company a small tract of ground lying along the Etowah river near its junction with the Oostanaula. They afterwards traded back to the understanding that the road was to do the switching for the company, which has since been known as the Battey & Hamlin warehouse for the privilege of using the tracks laid on the strip of ground.

This arrangement continued until the building of the Chattanooga, Atlanta and Columbus railroad, when the land was converted into a right of way and by consent of all parties the sum of $500 was deposited in the First National bank, which became a stakeholder until the case should be decided. The verdict of the jury was on the idea that the Rome railroad, by long occupancy and possession, had become the owner of the ground and the $500 was awarded to that company.

The case will remain with the committee.

Creekmore Released.

The coroner's jury in the Pope murder case this afternoon found a verdict to the effect that Pope came to his death at the hands of an unknown person. Evans and Brock were discharged, but the evidence against both Nix and Rhymer is strong and they were held to await the action of the grand jury.

At the Creekmore, the section boss of the Atlanta division of the Southern railway, who was arrested on suspicion of being implicated in the murder, demanded a personal hearing before the grand jury.

Quite a number of witnesses were examined and several negroes swore that they resembled the man who did the deed, but there were a number of his associates to whom he was known. The negroes said that he was a man of color, and they could not have been impossible for him to have committed the crime. He was released. The other four men are still in jail awaiting the result of the inquest.

FREE SILVER AT BRUNSWICK.

Slick Young Fakir Played a Winning Game There Yesterday.

Brunswick, Ga., November 25.—(Special)—A young stranger touched Brunswick today and then took flight, leaving those who played his game the wiser from his visit. The boy gave his name as Ed Morris and claims to be fourteen years of age. He appeared on the streets here with samples of tobacco, claiming to be the representative of a tobacco house. He had plenty of money and gave away several fifty-cent pieces for quarters, and dollars for halves. He said he was going to surprise the crowd and then asked those nearest him each for a dollar of their "own free will and accord."

There was a rush and no less than $25 were handed him. He then said, "I thank you gentlemen. Good day," and dove off. No case could be made against the sharper, but he failed to carry in the city longer than evening when he left by train.

IMPROVEMENTS AT DUNGENESS

Annex Built to Mrs. Carnegie's Palace on Cumberland Island.

Brunswick, Ga., November 25.—(Special)—Probably the handsomest residence in Georgia is located on Cumberland island, and is the home of Mrs. George Carnegie, and is also preparing to have his already beautiful residence remodeled after the colonial style of architecture.

Mr. Carnegie is a sister-in-law of Andrew Carnegie, the foremost magnate in America, she being the only female member of the New York Yacht Club.

ORPHANS' HOME ANNIVERSARY.

Dr. Candler Addresses the Methodists at Dalton.

Dalton, Ga., November 25.—Dr. Warren A. Candler delivered the main address at the orphans' home anniversary today. He said that such an anniversary was possible in a Christian land. Orphans' homes were never known in heathen lands, even in Greece and Rome, but were the results of the teachings and life of Jesus.

"Georgia owes much," he said, "to George Whithfield, who founded Bethesda Orphan home in Savannah, and a little boy named Miles, who, after leaving his godmother, gave the land to the state for its university. Georgia Methodists must make the splendid home at Decatur do the grand work it wants to do."

The occasion was a success and all were delighted with the address and the work of the home.

BISHOP WILSON PRESIDING

Officers Elected and Reports Read.

Committees Named by Presiding Elders—Resolutions Offered.

Dalton, Ga., November 25.—(Special)—The Methodist conference convened in Dalton this morning at 9 o'clock, Bishop A. W. Wilson in the chair.

The presiding called and Dr. J. W. Held was elected secretary, this being his twenty-third year's service.

Dr. Held named for assistants J. F. Davis, Jr., J. D. Walker, E. R. Cook, Ford, and T. D. Stas.

Statistical secretary, H. R. Davies; assistants, J. F. Bales, W. T. Hunnicutt, B. P. Seay, F. Tyson and J. S. Jenkins.

On motion the session was adjourned until 12:30 p.m.

According to the custom, the presiding elders retired to nominate committee.

J. D. Anderson, president of the Poughkeepsie house of the Methodist Episcopal church.

Reports from the following general committees, Sunday schools, church extension, education, Epworth leagues, foreign missions and parsonage and Home mission society.

The following educational institutions made reports showing good work being done and all the schools in the state were reported to be in good condition.

Rev. W. P. Lovejoy read the report of the Wesleyan Female college, Young L. G. Harris college, Reinhardt Normal college, Fairmont college, Dalton Normal college, Blue Ridge Institute and Birmingham Institute.

Rev. W. P. Lovejoy introduced a resolution indicating the anti-saloon bill, now before the legislature, and it was referred to the committee on temperance.

Rev. W. P. Lovejoy read the report of the Western Christian Advocate.

The following committees were appointed and their reports filed:

Sunday Schools—E. M. Stanton.

Church Extension—T. P. Hudson.

Conference Relations—W. R. Foote.

Memorials—T. J. Warlick.

Colporters—E. L. Colporters.

Public Worship—B. F. Fraser, H. J. Anderson, R. W. Wairman, L. E. Shumate, Lake Quillan.

The bishop called up the various presiding elders, whose characters were passed, and the report of their work.

Trinity church has raised about $17,000 this year, for all purposes.

Dr. Roberts has reason to be proud of the result. They have given nearly $3,000 to the orphans' home, about the same amount for their handsome new organ.

ROBERTSON CUT HIS ANNOYER.

Blakely Insisted Upon Tickling a Boy and Now May Die.

Rome, Ga., November 25.—(Special)—A cutting affair occurred this afternoon at the big mill at Lindale. Sam Robertson, a filling roller, cut Joe Blakely, a weaver, twice, as the result of Robertson refusing to be annoyed by Blakely. Blakely is fatally wounded, and will hardly survive the night.

Blakely had a habit of catching Robertson and tickling him. The former is twenty and the latter eighteen years of age. A man in the mill encouraged Blakely in tickling Robertson.

This afternoon Blakely passed Robertson and punched him in the side, when the latter remonstrated. Blakely repeated the offense. Robertson spoke angrily, when Blakely struck him in the face. The boy drew his knife, a small affair with a keen blade, and cut his ahnoyer.

Robertson was arrested and brought to the city and placed in jail. It is asserted that he acted in self-defense.

SAY RAILROADS ARE AT FAULT.

Savannah Complains That She Does Not Get Her Share of Cotton.

Savannah, Ga., November 25.—(Special)—A report was made today by a committee of the cotton exchange charging the railroads with the fault in Savannah receiving less than their proportionate share of cotton this season.

The railroads running to Norfolk were charged not only with giving rebates, but with taking the cotton at practically 14 cents less per 100 pounds than the rate at which it is brought to Savannah, and the difference at Charleston was attributed to the fact that there was no terminal charge there, which amounts to 3 cents per 100 pounds.

The committee made its report without consulting any of the railroad men and was instructed by the cotton exchange to continue the protest and ask the railroads for the conditions of affairs as they exist.

It is said the report may be somewhat different when the railroad men are heard from.

NEW PRESIDENT CITIZENS' CLUB

J. F. Cann Succeeds Hon. W. W. Osborne, Who Resigned.

Selma, Ala., November 25.—(Special)—At the meeting of the Citizens' Club to-night Mr. J. F. Cann was elected president in place of Hon. W. W. Osborne, who has resigned on account of his election as solicitor general.

The meeting was the opening gun of the city campaign, which will be as hard fought a battle as Chatham county has ever seen, all efforts at a compromise having apparently fallen through.

LIVED NEAR FOUR SCORE YEARS

Death of Mrs. Ann Desseker, an Old Friend of Selma.

Selma, Ala., November 25.—(Special)—Mrs. Ann Desseker died this morning. This venerable and highly respected lady was one among the oldest residents of Dallas since 1872 and before that for many years past, having been a resident of Dallas for nearly 20 years.

Jones Had Threatened Hightower's Life—Murderer Ran and Has Not Been Caught.

Lynch's alley, near the corner of Decatur street and Piedmont avenue, was the scene of a murder yesterday afternoon about 5 o'clock.

Ed Jones shot Dock Hightower through the heart. The two negroes had been enemies for some time and it is said Jones had threatened Hightower's life several times before.

Jones had been in love with a girl by the name of Minnie Chapman. Hightower was his rival and has been assiduous in his attentions. The men had not met for some time before yesterday. Several witnesses state that Jones swore he would kill Hightower at first sight. Yesterday Jones was drinking and happened to step out of the rear door of a barroom into the alley.

Just what passed between the two negroes is not known. Several witnesses heard angry words. In an instant Jones drew his pistol and fired. Hightower reeled to one side and fell to the ground with a bullet in his heart. When Jones realized what he had done he ran out of the alley and down Piedmont avenue. He has not been seen since.

Hightower's body was carried to Howard's mortuary establishment on Piedmont avenue, where it will be prepared for burial and an inquest held this morning by Coroner Paden.

When the body was searched a long knife was found secreted in the belt of Hightower's trousers. The knife scoured the city for Jones last night, but no trace of him could be found.

Both Jones and Hightower were widely known as being among the toughest characters in the city.

Hightower was one of the negroes who waylaid an Italian at the corner of Edgewood avenue and Piedmont about two months ago. The Italian was laid up for some time with a wound on his head, but finally recovered. Hightower and Cornelius Jackson, his partner, were both caught and bound over to the criminal court by Judge Calhoun. Their trial is set for next Monday.

HAZEL KIRKE TONIGHT.
Will Be Presented by Edward P. Elliott, Impersonator.

The impersonation of the characters of "Hazel Kirke" by Edward P. Elliott at the Young Men's Christian Association auditorium tomorrow will be one of the delightful events of the season. Mr. Elliott is a perfect actor and his impersonation of the various characters of "Hazel Kirke" is a work of genius of a very high order. He made a big hit here a year ago when he impersonated a "Gilded Fool" and his impersonation is being looked forward to with much interest.

"Hazel Kirke" is a delightful play and is always popular, but even to those most familiar with it Mr. Elliott's presentation will prove a perfect revelation.

GARDNER'S ENGAGEMENT
Will Begin Friday Evening at the Grand.

At the Grand Friday and Saturday sweet sixteen, Mr. Karl Gardner and his own excellent company will be seen in his successful comedy, "Fatherland," a romantic and picturesque drama of life in the Tyrol. Mr. Gardner, in the part of Karl Leopold, a Tyroleon peasant, hunter and guide, presents a character natural, but picturesque without, and he is the central figure of the drama.

His voice will be heard to advantage in characteristic songs of the Tyrol, and his singing of "The Lily," the accompaniment to one of the most dramatic episodes in the play, is an interesting feature of the performance. The drama is said to be faithfully represented the true character of the Tyrol, with its joys, games and pastimes, and truly realistic fire-side pictures. Two scenes are brought prominently forward, a "spinstere," or spinning bee, and an original "asparagusfest," in which the Tyroleans and full singing company will participate.

MAUDE ATKINSON COMPANY
Pleases a Large Audience at the Columbia.

The Maude Atkinson Company played to a good-sized audience last night at the Columbia theater. The play was "Faust" put on with special scenery and electrical effects. The ticket was far above anything usually seen here at popular prices.

Miss Atkinson made a good "Faust." Mr. Lother, on the role of Mephistopheles, was excellent. Miss Louise Taylor made a good Marquerite. The production as a whole was smooth and well put on.

At midline today Miss Atkinson will play "New York by Gaslight." Tonight, "Leah, the Forsaken," will be the bill.

MME. SANS GENE.

Sardou's Great Play Will Be Put on Soon at the Grand.

The story of "Madame Sans Gene" is one that special interest to the most discriminating theater goer. When Madame Sans Gene was a young girl, in Paris, Napoleon, then a lieutenant, was one of her customers, with more admiration for her than she or anybody else imagined.

Mr. Augustus Pitou has a great company of known actresses and actors, the cast having no less than thirty-five important characters. Miss Kathryn Kidder, who made such a brilliant success, assumes the title role, and Mr. Andrew Cook in the Napoleon. The cast also includes Messrs. Harold Russell, Wallace Shaw, Willis Granger, Miss Francesca Lincoln and Miss Catherine Campbell.

BELL IN HANDS OF RECEIVER.

American Trust and Savings Bank
Appointed as Receivers.

Judge Gibbons, of Atlanta, yesterday appointed the American Trust and Savings bank receiver for the Columbia bell, on application of George S. Knobell, who alleges that there is due him, as custodian of the bell, a balance of $3,565. Mr. Knobell claims that, against the Columbia Liberty bell, a number of the members of which are unknown to him, but he makes over a hundred persons defendants, among them being Mr. Russell Sage, Frances E. Willard, Mrs. George Washington, Gist, Amos Parker, Wimber, Hetherick, Butterworth, Mrs. John Quincy Adams, Aaron Vanderbilt, John Clark Rockfield, Mrs. James B. Peck and John Winfield Scott.

Mr. Knapp had charge of the famous bell during its tour of the Cotton States and International exposition.

He will be remembered by those who visited the exposition as the clever old gentleman who showed them the bell and told its interesting history. He was with the bell during its entire tour.

CLEANED OUT THE HOUSE

Jack Echols Was Bound Over by Justice Foute Yesterday Morning.

Jack Echols, a negro boy, with only one arm, was bound over to the superior court by Justice Foute yesterday on the charge of burglary. The prosecutor in the case was Evaline Black. She said that she is employed as a cook and therefore is obliged to leave the house during the day and until about 8 o'clock at night.

A few nights ago when she returned home she found that everything in her house had been stolen, even her furniture. She reported her loss to the police, who succeeded in tracing the burglary to Echols. It was found that he had gone there about dusk on the evening that the er of the rear door of a barroom into the alley.

Just what passed between the two negroes is not known. Several witnesses heard angry words. In an instant Jones drew his pistol and fired. FOR A CITY MARKET

Proposition To Put One on the Markham House Site.

WORK OF THE COMMITTEE

Three Propositions Held Out by the Owners to the City.

WILL THEY BUY PROPERTY OR LEASE?

Special Committee From the Council To Confer With the Owners Friday Afternoon.

Friday afternoon the special committee of council appointed to confer with the owners of the Markham house property with a view of purchasing it for a city market will meet and confer with the sev-

THE PASSING THRON.

Mr. Tom Martin returned from Mexico on Monday and left yesterday for New York. He went to the City of Mexico as the representative of the American Association of Manufacturers to make a report on the condition of the proposed exposition which is being agitated down there.

The situation is not particularly hopeful.

Both men are quite anxious to push the enterprise forward. President Diaz is to the project on certain lines. He wants to get the American people to show their goods down there and he hopes to bring his people and the residents of the states into the exposition.

Three plans have been prepared by Mr. Martin to be submitted to the committee of the national association.

President Diaz was inaugurated while Mr. Martin was in the capital city.

"I was over in Alabama a few days ago," says the freight representative of a large railway system, "and I called on the manager of a large iron works to get some business. I told him I was from the paper and he gave me a copy of the paper and I showed him an article copied from a Chicago paper.

Both men are on Decatur street during the afternoon and were drinking heavily.

The trouble arose over a pair of trousers which Boyd had promised to give Plunkett several times in the face. He was stabbed for a dozen times.

Boyd opened his knife and cut Plunkett for a dozen times.

Boyd was bound over to his home at Factory street. Plunkett was picked up a few minutes later by two policemen and sent to the hospital in the ambulance where his wounds were dressed by the police.

County Officers Mills and Turner were notified of the affray and found Boyd at his home about 8 o'clock. He was placed under arrest and locked in the station house on the charge of assault with intent to commit murder.

"I would like to get some business from him," I remarked to him.

"He replied that the statement which I had made was not true, so far as it related to his company, he had been to Anniston. Instead of putting on extra men, I had to reduce my force. I only ran two days last week. I shall probably have to shut down four days next week, and then not be able to get any orders after that.

There is not a word of truth in the report that we have orders ahead and I have complained to the editor of the paper on the ground that a statement of that character would tend to keep orders away from us. If a man is not able to place and to sell up, he gets afraid that we cannot fill our order promptly and he puts it somewhere else."

"I noticed that of three Chattanooga concerns reported in the Chicago paper, as having started up, one was not at all.

Another had been shut down for two years and has not been started up and will not be, and the other is still closed.

"I have no doubt that a great many of the concerns, if investigated, would show up in the same way as the Chattanooga report.

"The advance agent of prosperity has not accomplished much yet for the country, so far as I can see. I notice that the railroads are complaining of poor business. Some of them have had a much worse month than October, and I am afraid that we will not have many more.

"In this connection The Railway Age, a strong goldbing paper, publishes an interesting article giving its observations on the subject.

The article in question says:

"Has the railway business picked up at all? We are compelled to answer: No, it has not. In parts of the west and south, we have seen a great deal of improvement since the election than it was before. There has not even been an increase in the little local passenger traffic. Here and there are isolated cases of increasing traffic, but, generally, the country is in a state of stagnation, with little or no improvement, yet, either in travel or traffic. This is the case with the railroads.

The Atlanta hotel men are mourning the abrupt end of Fregoli's tour. He was booked for Atlanta, but his tour ended in Washington last week and he is going back to Italy.

There is a peach for hotel men. When he was in Baltimore two weeks ago, his hotel bill at the Hotel Studio was $88 and he was there only seven days. Of this amount $31, or nearly two-thirds of the whole bill, was for wines. His party consisted of his son and four others, all of whom were members of his hotel. At each meal all drank liberally of the rare and costliest wines, and they would occasionally break a few bottles in between meals.

The news of the versatile Italian actor's passing has spread everywhere. The hotel men and the managers here in Atlanta were in wait for him. The guest whose bill runs up to nearly $100 a day is rare in these parts, although there are stories, rumors or local myths, of Florida hotels charging some of their rich guests that much per day.

In the meantime the tax had been levied and the greater portion of it is said to be collected. The tax is very unsuitable for the great volume of business done in the county of DeKalb.

The commissioners failing to have any effect on the commissioners, it was then proposed that the county site be moved to Stone Mountain and the new courthouse built on account of the stringency of the time.

Petitions were circulated asking for an election on the question and were signed by a great many, but the petition, with the result that the election was called for the 2d day of December.

In the meantime the tax had been levied and the greater portion of it is said to be collected. The tax is very unsuitable for the great volume of business done in the county of DeKalb.

The present county commissioners decided that the county should be erected at once. In order to raise the money with which to build, they proposed to levy a special tax large enough to erect a building in keeping with the old county of DeKalb.

The county commissioners will advise the commissioners to do this.

How the tax was levied has been told.

The commissioners, though the people objected very seriously, went ahead and levied the tax.

The people seeing that they could not prevent this without action, gathered together, called a mass meeting. The meeting was held at the old courthouse and at this meeting resolutions were adopted asking the commissioners to repeal the tax and allow the people to say whether or not bonds should be issued.

In after voting on the question, those who objected to the tax issued, then those who objected to the special tax would withdraw their objections.

Paine-Murphy Co.'s Cotton Letter.

Atlanta, November 25.—Trading today was in the main of an evening up, characterized by a general price movement of 9 points in response to higher Liverpool cables. Then they reacted and declined 1 to 3 points on sales and then later reacted again on covering of shorts and closed steady and unchanged to 2 points higher for the day; sales 215,600 bales.

The rate of Liverpool, 4,11-64, was due to predictions made here of lighter receipts in the near future. Liverpool advanced 1-2d on the stock with sales of 1,000 bales. Then the advanced 1 to 5 points.

For the day advanced 1 to 5 points.

Augusta received 1,410, above 2,239 and 577.

Memphis, 4,3d, against 4,06c.

Hubbard Bros. & Co.'s Cotton Letter.

New York, November 25.—The European market responded more quickly to the advices from the interior prediction of a decline in the market than did our own, as the semi-weekly movement of 107,000 bales receipts added to the number of doubting Thomas regarding the correctness of the prediction of a decline in the market, and yesterday the market reacted and setting aside European movements, the selling market has been a prominent one throughout the entire year, as the present system of delivery, as the present system of delivery to the part making the delivery that the tendency is to hedge all southern purchases here. The temper of the trade is, however, not to hedge, but to consider merely a reaction, which will serve to increase the disposition on the part of the planters to hold the holdings, especially at the local market, and the market is steady at a shade higher than last evening. Numerous advices were received of light receipts, but it will require visitation to the correctness of these advices to bring the market to advance the market.

Ridan & Co.'s Cotton Letter.

New York, November 25.—The market was active today. Liverpool advanced, and in the early trading here there was a spurt in price, caused chiefly by the arrival of a large quantity of short cover short lines. January, which had sold on the call at 7,60 advanced to 7,64, but when the demand from the short lines fell, the price declined to 7,54, and then reacted to 7,56, with the tone steady.

At the opening the pressure of local demand was strong, and the market reacted to 7,54, and then reacted to 7,56, with the tone steady.

A NOTABLE WEDDING AT COLUMBUS, GA.

Columbus, Ga., November 25.—(Special)—One of the social events of the season and which has been discussed with interest throughout the social circle of the state because of the prominence of the contracting parties occurred in Columbus this evening when the wedding of Major Frank Erwin Calloway, private secretary of Governor Atkinson, and Miss Helen Spencer, a beautiful and popular belle of this city, occurred.

The ceremony occurred at 8:30 o'clock this evening at Trinity Episcopal church, at which was gathered the society and fashion of Columbus to attend this brilliant wedding. The church was beautifully decorated with cut flowers and bamboo. The ceremony was performed by Dr. W. C. Hunter.

Captain John D. Little was best man and Miss Agnes Spencer, a sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Miss Verona Spencer was first bridesmaid and the other bridesmaids were Misses Bessie and Minnie Fountaine, Addie Mason, Edith Carter, Miss Ethel Murphy of California; Miss Florence Woods of Anniston, and Miss Lella Calloway.

The other attendants were: Mr. J. B. Calloway, LaGrange, a brother of the groom; Mr. C. H. Hall of Macon; Messrs. W. H. Black, Robert Adams, Jack Cohen and Lieutenant Oscar Brown, of Atlanta; Mr. Hardeman, of Athens, and Mr. Arthur Murdoch, of Columbus. The ushers were: Mr. A. F. Harrington, of West Point; Mr. Allen Johnson, of West Point; Mr. Lloyd Bowers, of Columbus, and Mr. George Mason, of Columbus.

After the wedding an elegant reception was given at the home of Mrs. Lambert Spencer, the mother of the bride, on Second avenue.

The guests were the relatives and intimates of the contracting parties. Among the distinguished guests were Governor Atkinson and Mr. Samuel Spencer, who is a brother of the bride. The governor was one of a party that came down from Atlanta this morning. Tomorrow morning the bridal party goes up to Atlanta.

On account of Major Calloway's duties during the session of the legislature the bridal tour of the couple will not take place immediately.

Thanksgiving will be observed by a great many today, and there will be all kinds of social features to make it quite as much of a holiday as it is in the large cities of the north. In New York it is more universally observed as a holiday than Christmas, and the annual football game than brings out every class of people who recklessly stake their pennies or "checks," as the case may be, on Yale of Princeton.

In Atlanta today the football game will be between the students of the Georgia university and those of Auburn, Ala., and the interest shown in the approaching contest seems to have quite possessed the city. All the smart equipages will be decorated in the colors of the contesting teams, and all society will witness the game.

The sponsors will be driven out in carriages elaborately decorated and drawn by white horses, gay with streamers of the college colors.

Miss Gertrude Jackson, of Augusta, and Miss Emma Belle Lovrend, of Atlanta, will represent as sponsors the Georgia team, and Misses Caroline Johnson and Gussie Wylie will be the sponsors of the Auburn team. A quartet of prettier girls would be hard to find, and their presence will lend renewed interest to the game.

Besides the football game in the afternoon, there will be a number of small entertainments.

Dr. and Mrs. Charles Pickney will give an elegant luncheon at noon.

Miss Annie Nash will entertain her charming guest, Miss Lane, of Macon, with a luncheon at noon, after which the party will attend the game.

Mrs. Clarence Knowles will give an elegant card party in the afternoon, at which she will entertain some fifty guests.

In the evening Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Stovall will give a dinner party that is an assured success, occurring at their home.

At about the number of the Capital City Club will tender their first reception of the season, to be marked by its elegance of detail. A delicious supper will be served, and the decorations appropriate and elegant.

The luncheon to be given at noon by Mrs. Lovrend and Miss Lovrend to the young ladies of Atlanta, who will be in a private car to attend the football game, will doubtless be a much enjoyable affair.

Mr. Bent Neal Thornton will entertain a party of eight at luncheon, which will be followed by a drive to the football game.

The Prodigals' Thanksgiving dinner will occur this evening at the Aragon.

Mrs. Nora L. Barney and her daughter, Miss Hussey, and a large party of Macon's society, including the alumnae of the students from Wesleyan college, arrive in the city at noon today in a private car. They come to attend the football game and will be guests at the Kimball house.

The best man was Mr. B. Davis, of Oxford, and the groomsmen were Messrs. Walter Emery and Gordon Boyd, both of Oxford. Messrs. Marion Howard and Jess Harkness, as known all over Macon, and the bridesmaids were Miss Hardeman, of Oxford, and Miss Marie Griffin, of Atlanta.

Enthusiastic interest is being manifested in the course of university extension lectures that will begin in Atlanta in January. The admission for the six lectures will cost but $1.25, for those not members of the club, while the club members can obtain their tickets for $1. Members of the Young Men's Christian Association will be admitted free by signing their names with the secretary. All who wish to subscribe to the course of lectures that will present a subject of wonderful interest and practicality will send their names and addresses to Mrs. O'Neal or Mrs. A. E. Buck.

The social meeting of the Daughters of the Confederacy will not be held this evening, but will be postponed till next Thursday evening, December 3d, at 8 o'clock.

when it will occur in the woman's club rooms, for the benefit of the Sunday school Christmas tree.

From a Social Standpoint

Two Alabama Weddings.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., November 25.—(Special)—Two marriages in high circles here tonight. At 6 o'clock Mr. Charles Abercrombie, one of the most prominent young business men of the city, was married at St. John's Episcopal church to Miss Katie Westcott, who for two seasons has been a great social favorite, and who has many admirers. Georgia. After a delightful reception at the residence of the bride's father on Catona street, Mr. and Mrs. Abercrombie left for an eastern bridal tour.

At 7 o'clock Mr. Hunter Roquemore, who is prominent socially and professionally, before attorney here for the Plant system, was married at the First Baptist church to Miss Annie Hill Alexander, the only daughter of one of the oldest and best families of the city. Mr. and Mrs. Roquemore left immediately after the ceremony for St. Augustine, Fla., where they will spend some time.

RICHMOND, Va., November 25.—(Special)—Mrs. Louis Ford Whitlock, a handsome and wealthy young widow, was married here on November 25 to Mr. Ambrose Wilson, of Kansas City, banker. The ceremony took place in the parlor of Miss Whitlock's Franklin hotel. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilson left on a bridal tour to Mexico. Mrs. Wilson's first husband was R. H. Whitlock, a rich manufacturer. After death his widow spent some time abroad and met Mr. Wilson in Egypt, as Miss Louise Ford, of Louisville.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., November 25.—(Special)—Miss Lucile Fry, daughter of Colonel George T. Fry, formerly of Atlanta, married this evening in this city to Mr. R. A. P. Smith, of Knoxville.

The first prize, and exquisite statuette in marble, was won by Mrs. William Montgomery, Mrs. Louis Ford Whitlock, a handsome and wealthy young widow, was married here on November 25 to Mr. Ambrose Wilson, of Kansas City, banker. THE movement to secure a Juvenile reformatory is being earnestly and actively agitated by the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, the King's Daughters, the Judges of the criminal courts and a number of interested citizens who have been impressed by the great need of an institution of this character.

Those who are most active in the movement declare that this time has come when the juvenile criminals of the state should no longer be sent to the chain gang and penitentiary, but should be placed in a reformatory school, where they could be trained and educated to become useful citizens.

The judges of the criminal courts are anxious that prompt action be taken in regard to the matter, as the number of juvenile criminals is constantly increasing, and it daily becomes necessary for more men to be sent to the penitentiary for petty crimes.

"I am anxious that we have a reformatory school," says Judge John Berry, of the city criminal court. "I am not speaking merely from sentiment. Every day that I hold criminal court I see more and more the absolute necessity for an institution of this character. I have boys who are brought before me not more than ten or twelve years old, who are sent out to the convict camp, and when their sentences expire, they return to the city, educated criminals, and soon come before me again on some new offense."

"I have something will be done for the boys. They are ruined when they once wear stripes. They lose all self respect and all pride when they are chained together and put to work in the presence of the public. The children in the schools, whose parents are good and every time I sentence a boy to the gang I hope from the bottom of my heart that it is to be the last one. There is nobody who would be better pleased to see the movement to secure this reformatory school succeed than myself. I am in earnest, and have seen from experience and daily contact with the prisoners the dreadful results of the chain gang and penitentiary."

Judge Candler is enthusiastic.

Judge Candler, who presides over the superior criminal court, and Solicitor Charles Hill are both anxious that a reformatory school be secured, so that youthful criminals could be sent there instead of the penitentiary.

"We have needed a reformatory school in the past," says Judge Candler, "but the present need is urgent and pressing. We can't put this movement off lightly. The question of sending boys to the penitentiary is a question of life and death, and we should not hesitate to consider the matter very carefully before we refuse to put forth every effort in the movement."

"I see the situation from a practical standpoint. Every session of my court demands the services of a reformatory school. It is a pitiable sight to see young boys charged with some petty offense, sent to the penitentiary, chained together with hardened criminals. It is a sight that should not be witnessed in Georgia, and we must do something for any movement that will secure the institution that is now being agitated."

Ladies Are Interested.

The ladies are interested in the movement to secure the school, and a bill is now being prepared which is to be introduced in the house within the next few days.

About 10 o'clock Tierney stepped into the establishment of the Potts, Thompson Liquor Company and presented an order purporting to be signed by Mr. Chris Sullivan. Knowing that Mrs. Sullivan was out of town, the liquor company began an investigation and found the order to be a forged.

Tierney was therefore handed over to the detectives and locked up. He claims a white man gave him the order, and that he is not responsible for the forgery. A warrant will be sworn out against him today.

THEY WILL DANCE TONIGHT.

The same evening Miss Leahy received the guests at her brother's card party in an exquisite French gown. It was a white satin with an over-drapery of white silk muslin and embroidered in the shades of pale pink.

Miss Leahy will be a becoming evening gown of French blue silk muslin over white satin.

Miss Emma May Burden was very much admired in an effective toilet of La France rose satin, the corsage trimmed in mignette green chiffon.

Miss Jessie Chisholm, of Savannah, was the center of attraction in a becoming pale pink-colored silk, the corsage of white and gold brocade trimmed with Parma violet.

Miss Lulu Belle Hemphill wore a becoming semi-evening toilet, a light-colored corsage, most effective in soft draperies of chiffon.

Miss Emma May Burden was very much admired in an effective toilet of La France rose satin, the corsage trimmed in mignette green chiffon.

Miss Jessie Chisholm, of Savannah, was the center of attraction in a becoming pale pink-colored silk, the corsage of white and gold brocade trimmed with Parma violet.

MISS LEAHY RECEIVED THE GUESTS AT HER BROTHER'S CARD PARTY IN AN EXQUISITE FRENCH GOWN.

The same evening Miss Leahy received the guests at her brother's card party in an exquisite French gown. It was a white satin with an over-drapery of white silk muslin and embroidered in the shades of pale pink.

Miss Leahy will be a becoming evening gown of French blue silk muslin over white satin.

WAR NOT IMMINENT

The Southern and Seaboard Roads May Live in Peace.

NO TIME NOW TO CUT RATES

Perhaps if the Executive Officers Were to Confer Again an Understanding Might Be Reached.

The talk of a railroad rate war is very much like the rumors of a European war, which are set adrift every year. They float about like a derelict at sea. It is no-body's special business to chase them down and sink them, and so they keep on riding the waves of gossip until they get water logged and disappear.

Some of the northern gossip mongers have almost involved the Seaboard and the Southern in another war, but an unusually good authority says that war is not so imminent as might be inferred.

"I think that the expressions of Mr. St.
John and Mr. Hoffman have been misunderstood by those who have quoted them in the papers," said a railroad man yesterday who keeps up with the situation. "To one who is not familiar with all that has gone on the statements of the Seaboard officials may seem to be belligerent. But in the light of what has gone before, they have another meaning altogether. Some things have occurred that have not been told publicly, and the representatives of the two roads are not so far apart as might be imagined. It is a business proposition that the previous war started over, Mr.
Spencer was in Europe at the time. Now he is on the scene, and, I think, will deal with the question in a rather different way from that which was adopted last July. Again, the Southern has a very conservative factor in its organization, Vice President Flint. He is broad-minded and wise. The two roads are still in a general tonic.
